"We'll be improved . . .," Bridgers

There are three basic reasons why Baylor will have an improved football team in September.

√ Potential depth at quarterback.

√ Experience in the offensive line.

√ And changes in its defensive strategy.

Let's take a closer look at each factor.

At quarterback, junior letterman Alvin Flynn and sophomores Steve Stuart and Laney Cook give the Bears one of their strongest contingents ever.

Flynn completed 62 of 144 attempts for 924 yards and four touchdowns last season and was a part-time starter.

Stuart and Cook led the freshmen to a 4-1 record. Stuart connected on 32 of 62 attempts for 375 yards and one touchdown and Cook threw for three six-pointers, hitting 12 of 31 for 219 yards.

"We have more overall ability at quarterback than any year I can remember," said coach John Bridgers. "Our biggest problem here is that none of these men have proven themselves against teams like we'll be playing this fall.

Baylor plays one of the toughest schedules in the country this year with the first four games at Indiana, champion of the Big 10, Michigan State, a perennial Big 10 power, Louisiana State, defending Sugar Bowl king, and Arkansas, one of the favorites in the Southwest Conference.

Then, the Bears take a week off before initiating their home schedule, October 26, against SWC and Cotton Bowl champion Texas A&M.

In the offensive line, the Bears return lettermen at each position.

All-SWC tackle Richard Stevens, who Bridgers calls "as fine an offensive lineman we've had at Baylor," should be a contender for honors on both the conference and national level. He is a 6-5, 235-pound junior from Dublin.

Calvin Hunt, a junior who started at tackle last year, was moved to center in the spring and made the transition with ease. He has the size (6-3, 217 pounds) and mobility to be one of the top centers in the league.

John Kelly has moved from offensive guard to tackle, and Bob Stephenson and Richard Dennard are the leading guard candidates. All three are juniors.

Ted Gillum, a 6-6, 215-pound junior from Lake Worth, has the potential to become the best blocking tight-end in recent Baylor history.

Gary Alexander and Mark Lewis will battle for the split-end position. Alexander caught 10 passes for 128 yards and one touchdown last year and Lewis had one reception for six yards.

"These men have the potential to become the strongest offensive line since I've been at Baylor," said Bridgers. "They have good size and above average quickness and mobility."

Jerry Smith, Derek Davis and Don Huggins will compete for the flanker-back spot. Smith, a junior letterman, had eight catches for 117 yards last year and Davis, an All-SWC freshman from Dallas Bryan Adams, caught 17 for 159 yards and three touchdowns in first-year play. Huggins, who entered spring practice without a scholarship, is the fastest of the trio and a capable receiver.

Pinkie Palmer, Baylor's second best rusher last year, and Brian Blessing return at fullback. Palmer gained 333 yards in 94 carries and averaged 3.5 yards per rush and Blessing had 169 yards in 48 attempts last year. Palmer could be one of the best in the Southwest.

John Westbrook returns at running back, but he missed spring practice with a knee injury. He averaged 4.5 yards per carry as a sophomore and 3.2 his junior season.

Gene Rogers and Gordon Utgard, who each showed a lot of ability in the spring, should be the top contenders for the starting nod.

Defensively, Bridgers has changed his basic wide-tackle-six alignment to the five-man front monster.

And since changing defensive styles of play isn't an easy task, Bridgers went after a coach who knew that phase of football inside-out. His first choice was Jack Green, of Kansas, who joined the staff March 1.

Green's line will have junior Tommy Reaux, who lettered offensively last lear, and Walter Groth or Ronnie Woodard, who both have experience, at the tackles and red-shirt Trent Phipps or sophomore Bobby Henderson at middle-guard.

Earl Maxfield, a 6-3, 240-pound senior from Tyler, could add strength to the interior if he responds to treatment of an old knee injury. He had excellent potential as a freshman, but received torn ligaments prior to the first game his sophomore season.

Sophomores Dennis Watson and David Jones will probably handle the flanks and lettermen Bill Dewald and Phil Russell should provide depth.

Tommy Bambrick, a sophomore from San Marcos, is a strong candidate for the monster assignment. He'll receive inside support from O. B. Goolsby, Mt. Pleasant senior, and Dallas Woodrow Wilson sophomore Randy Cooper.

Secondary lettermen Jacky Allen and Steve Lane, who missed spring work because of track participation, have been starters the past two years. They'll receive help from sophomores John Miller, Ed Marsh, Mike Beane and Russell Serafin.

"I was extremely pleased with the improvement we made defensively in the spring," said Bridgers. "The men were very responsive to the new concepts and I think they'll make a lot of big plays for us this year."

Baylor again will be a young team with 17 sophomores, 21 juniors and only 6 seniors included in the first 44 men. The Bears have five sophomores, 15 juniors and two seniors on the first two offensive units and 12 sophomores, 6 juniors and 4 seniors on the top two defensive teams.

And with any team depending on youth, there has to be areas of concern.

Although quarterback has its best potential in recent years, Flynn was inconsistent last year. He completed 43 per cent of his passes, but had bright spots indicating excellent potential.

Stuart and Cook have never been exposed to varsity competition and its prevailing pressures. And certainly, there is always the reality of "sophomore mistakes."

All of these men have shown ability, but none has overshadowed the others.

Problems of inexperience also exist defensively. Many of the front-eight positions are filled by un-tried sophomores and the new monster-system could cause hesitancy, creating mistakes.

There's also concern regarding the secondary. Baylor gave up 165.9 yards passing last year and finished last in conference aerial statistics. Allen and Lane should perform admirably, but there are no experienced backfield replacements.

And the schedule would be a tough task for a veteran team to master. Each of the conference and bowl champions are expecting another great year and officials at both Texas and Arkansas are very optimistic.

Baylor opens at Indiana, September 21.

FACTS ABOUT BAYLOR

Baylor University, Texas' oldest university in continuous existence, enters its 124th year of service to higher education. The university was founded in 1845 at Independence, Texas, under a charter granted by the Republic of Texas. It was later moved to Waco.

Although Baylor has students of more than 30 denominations, including Catholics, Episcopalians, Methodists, and Presbyterians, the majority of its students are Baptists. Baylor facilities and all activities, including athletics, were racially integrated five years ago.

The university was named after Judge Robert Emmet Bledsoe Baylor, supreme court justice of the Republic of Texas, a Kentucky native who was a veteran of the War of 1812 and member of the Kentucky legislature before moving to Texas.

Co-founders with Judge Baylor were Rev. James E. Huckins, native of New Hampshire, who became principal of the first public school to be opened in Texas at Galveston, and Rev. William M. Tryon, native of New York City, who became chaplain of the Congress of the Republic of Texas.

The Baylor-Waco Foundation has provided significant financial aid for Baylor and Urban Renewal has added to campus area and room for needed growth. Baylor has added over $16 millions in new buildings and facilities in a decade.

Moody Memorial Library, Sid Richardson Science Building, Marrs McLean Science Building, Hankamer School of Business Building, Russell Hall Dormitory for Women, Penland Hall Dormitory for Men and the Book Store Building are among the newer buildings recently completed.

Waco, city of 113,000, is situated near the geographical center of Texas. Huge new Lake Waco, completed and filled three years ago, has added to Waco and Baylor growth with greatly increased water supply.

In addition to the main campus in Waco, Baylor University also includes the famed Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, College of Dentistry and the Baylor-Army Hospital Administration Program at Fort Sam Houston in San Antonio. The Waco campus includes College of Arts and Science, Schools of Business, Law, Education, Music, Religion and Nursing. The Graduate School has branches on all four campuses.

There is a strong unit of the Air Force ROTC, training young officers for the service, active since World War II days.

Lighted 48,000-seat Baylor Stadium, built two miles from campus in 1950, is a sunken concrete bowl with playing surface 26 feet below surrounding ground level. There is exceptionally large surrounding parking area. Builders did not put in a track, bringing spectators much closer to the action. Curved sides give occupants of all seats an open view of the entire gridiron, making this one of the finest of all football stadiums. There's not a post in the place.

Basketball is played in 7,600-seat Heart O'Texas Coliseum, where parking also is more than ample. Baseball is played in 5.000-seat Dutton Park; tennis on new concrete courts on campus; track meets are in the 5,200-seat track stadium with eight-lane quarter-mile red cinder track; and the golf team uses Ridgewood Country Club.

JOHN D. BRIDGERS

Athletic Director and Head Football Coach

If you took the case to a court of law, it wouldn't be hard to find supporting evidence the man is a credit to his profession.

Everyone who knows him would speak of his character, and then without hesitation, his next words would wish him luck in the future.

His peers would go one step further, they would say he is the greatest football coach in Baylor history.

The man is John D. Bridgers.

And his record clearly indicates he has tasted success more than any other football coach at the world's largest Baptist university.

Let's take a look at it.

√In nine seasons at the helm, his teams have broken even with 46 wins, 46 losses and one tie. And in those years, the outside competition has been against perennial powers such as Syracuse, LSU, Southern California and Auburn.

But more important is this fact, Baylor is one of only three Southwest Conference teams that has played .500 per cent football in the past nine years.

Texas has won 75, lost 20 and tied two games since 1959, and Arkansas has established a 72-23-1 mark.

√His SWC record, 28-33-1, has been surpassed by only one former Baylor coach. Morley Jennings (1926-40) won 34, lost 45, and tied five in conference competition.

√Baylor historically has participated in seven bowl games, Bridgers-coached teams have won two and lost one. The Bears defeated sixth-ranked Utah State in the 1961 Gotham Bowl, 24-9, and LSU, 14-7, in the 1963 Bluebonnet Bowl. A two-point conversion gamble, going for the win, gave Florida a 13-12 win in the 1960 Gator Bowl.

√Bridgers' renowed football reputation has earned him coaching assignments in post-season games seven of his nine Baylor years, and only a bowl game prevented him from accepting his eighth.

His first post-season "star" assignment was the North-South Shrine game in 1961. The next two years, he worked the East-West Shrine classics, and then went to the All-America game (Buffalo) in 1964. He served in the Blue-Gray contests at Montgomery, Alabama, he next two years and returned to the North-South game in 1967.

√He has been the principal offensive football speaker at the All-America clinic (Atlantic City), and at prep coaching schools in Alabama, Florida, Minnesota, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas.

Even after experiencing his worst year ever as a coach in 1967, Baylor was 1-8-1, Paul "Bear" Bryant showed his confidence in Bridgers by asking him to lead the offensive discussions in the University of Alabama's summer clinic.

(Incidentally, a note for the superstitious crowd, 1967 was his 13th as a head coach.)

√Seven Bridgers-coached athletes are active in professional football, and 16 have made it to the "money league" since 1959.

Ronnie Bull was the No. 1 draft choice of the Chicago Bears in 1961 and earned National Football League "Rookie of the Year" honors in 1962. Lawrence Elkins was the top choice of both Green Bay and Houston in 1964, and was the Southwest's first two year consensus All-America since Doak Walker.

This is a true indication his sound football philosophy and training have been advantageous to Baylor athletes wanting a professional career.

Bridgers arrived on the Waco campus after two years with the Baltimore Colts. He was the defensive line coach of the 1958 World Championship team that defeated the New York Giants, 23-17, in a sudden death over ime.

One of his first changes at Baylor was to spread the offense, and initiate the aggressive pro-set passing attack. This new-look earned Baylor a reputation as one of the most exciting teams in America.

Baylor has led the SWC in passing six of the past eight years. In five of these seasons, the Bears had the league's passing leader, twice the national champion, and once the nations top receiver. Four of the five years Baylor produced the conference's total offense king.

Bruin passers own five of the top seven single-season pass completion totals in SWC history, Don Trull's 174 (1963) and Terry Southall's 173 (1966) are at the top. These two quarterbacks own almost all conference passing records.

Trull was the NCAA passing champion in 1962 and 1963, and Lawrence Elkins' 70 receptions in 1963 was the best in the land. Buddy Humphrey was the national passing leader in 1958.

Although Bridgers is best known for producing top athletes, he is proud of the increasing number who earn degrees. About 80 per cent of Baylor's scholarship athletes meet graduation requirements.

And some of these student-athletes have distinguished themselves in the classroom with the same enthusiasm they displayed on the field. Bull and Trull led the nation in votes for the All-America scholastic team in 1961 and 1963 respectively. And guard Mickey Kennedy and halfback Eddie Whiddon (1965) received NCAA graduate academic-achievement scholarships for athletes. Kennedy had the highest grade point average of the 22 athletes receiving NCAA national grants in 1964.

Bridgers was born January 13, 1922, in Birmingham, Alabama. He and his identical twin brother, Frank, played guard at Auburn in 1940-41-42, helping the Tigers post a 16-13-3 record.

With the presence of World War II, he left the university in the middle of his senior year and joined the enlisted reserve with the rank of private. He became a captain of artillery in the European campaign, and again served in that capacity in the Korean War.

During the war interim, he returned to Auburn to complete his degree requirements. Bridgers graduated with honors and was presented a scholarship key for the highest four-year grade point in the School of Business.

His coaching career also began at Auburn, he doubled as "B" team coach and full-time instructor in Economics in 1946. The next year Bridgers was accepted for entrance in the Yale law school, but he chose a job with Sewannee University where he served as line coach for five years.

Following the Korean War Bridgers assumed head football and track coaching duties at Johns Hopkins University, winning the Mason-Dixon Conference football championship in 1956. He joined the professional ranks in 1957 and was named head football coach and director of athletics at Baylor in 1959.

Bridgers also is recognized as one of the top athletic directors in the country, and has been the instrumental factor in the success of Baylor's total athletic program.

He initiated the Academic Athletic Scholarship Program, providing grants for student-athletes who have distinguished themselves academically and as citizens of their community.

Religion has long played an important role in Bridgers' life. He has twice served as president of the national council for the Fellowship of Christian Athletes and is an ordained deacon at Waco's Seventh and James Baptist church.

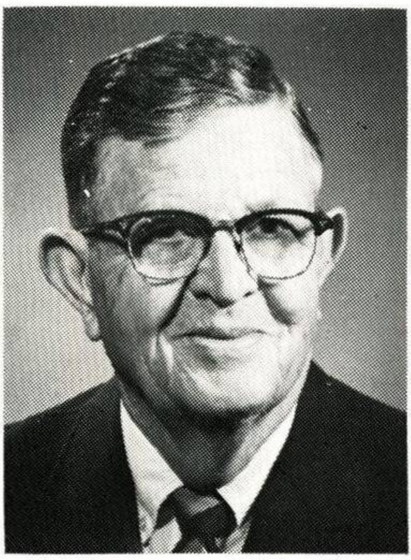
He and his wife, Frances, have two sons, Don and Dixon, who are student-athletes at Richfield High School.

Bridgers' record spells success.

If you took it to court, case dismissed.

BILL HENDERSON

Assistant Athletic Director



His name is R. E. Henderson. But the man, who is one of the best-liked and most-respected in the Southwest Conference, is known by almost everyone as "Mr. Bill."

He is the foremost authority on Baylor athletics and is always a source of reference for people seeking information about the history of the conference.

Henderson came to Baylor in 1936 from Waco High School as assistant football, freshman basketball and track coach and instructor of government.

He was named varsity basketball coach in 1942 and became assistant athletic director in 1959.

In addition to his administrative duties, he currently serves as business manager and vice-president of the Baylor Stadium Corporation.

He earned national fame for Baylor and himself in his 18 varsity basketball seasons. His 1948 Bears advanced to the finals of the NCAA tournament (No other conference school has reached the finals.), and he won four SWC championships.

His coaching career began at Temple High School, he tutored Baylor All-Americas Botche Koch and Sammy Baugh at the prep level, changing Baugh from end to quarterback. He moved to Waco in 1931.

Henderson also was a successful athlete, a four-sport le terman and captain of three sports at Howard Payne. He received a B.A. degree in 1925.

A native of Ballinger, he and his wife have a son, Bill, a prominent Waco pathologist, a daughter, Mrs. Tom Echols, and six grandchildren.

CATFISH SMITH

Promotion Director

It's not unusual to travel anywhere in Texas and find people who know M. A. Smith.

And the unique thing is that each person will have his favorite athletic story about the man called Catfish.

He begins his first year in a dual role as promotion director and executive vice-president of the Baylor Bear Club, athletic boosters organization.

Smith was Baylor's freshman coach for nine seasons, establishing at 25-20 record.

He coached on the high school level at Carey, Borger, Longview and Mt. Vernon and es ablished a 30-2 record as head coach at East Texas State. Smith won a state basketball championship at Carey and his Mt. Vernon teams won six district titles in seven years, winning 26 straight over a three year period. He was chosen Coach of the Year by the Texas Spor s Writers Association in 1953.

Smith is a past president of the Texas High School Coaches Association.

He and his wife, Dot, have two sons, Ronnie (20), a Baylor student, and Jimmy (15). Smith is a native of Mt. Pleasant.

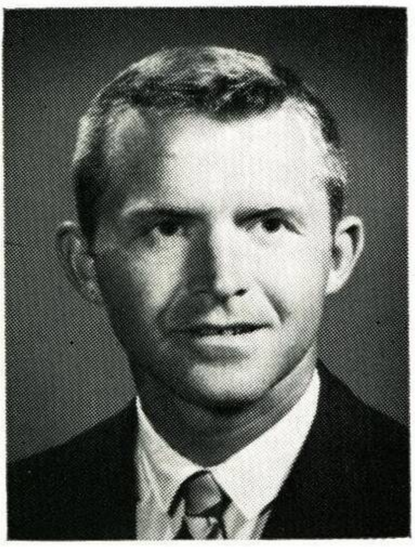
DAVID HUFFSTETLER

Head Trainer



Newest member of the athletic staff is David Huffstetler, who accepted the duties of head athletic trainer, July 1.

Huffstetler came to Baylor highly recommended from Eastern Kentucky University, where he served as trainer the past three years.

His journey into athletic training was partially a result of misfortune. As a wingback at Maryville (Tenn.) College in 1960, he was forced to cut short his playing career because of injuries suffered in an automobile accident.

He volunteered to serve as a student trainer at Maryville in 1962-63 and was named head trainer there in 1964 while obtaining the B.S. degree in health and physical education.

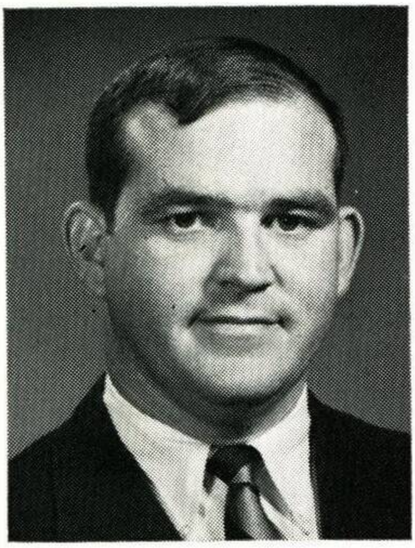
Huffstetler entered the University of Indiana graduate school in 1965 and earned the M.S. degree in athletic training. He obtained excellent practical experience under Warren Ariail and Dwayne "Spike" Dixon, Indiana's highly respected training team.

His interest in athletics began at Maryville High School, where he was an All-Blound County football player. He also participated in basketball and baseball.

He holds professional affiliations with the National Athletic Trainers Association and the American College of Sports Medicine.

DAVID CAWOOD

Sports Information Director



David Cawood begins his first year as sports information director, he succeeds the late George Wright.

Cawood came to Baylor April 1 from Eastern Kentucky University, where he was sports information director and an administrative assistant in the office of public affairs.

His athletic participation was limited to high school; he was twice an All-Southeastern Kentucky center and earned all-state recognition at Harlan High School.

He received a B.B.A. degree from Baylor in 1965 majoring in business and journalism. While an undergraduate, he served three years under Wright in the sports news department. He also wrote for The Baylor Lariat, and the campus magazine, The Iscani.

Cawood held campus memberships in Sigma Delta Chi and Alpha Kappa Psi, and was a Dallas Press Club scholarship recipient.

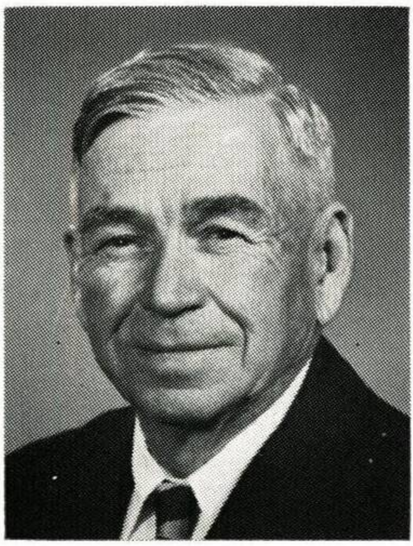
He became sports publicist at Morehead (Ky.) State University upon graduation and then moved to Eastern Kentucky University in 1967.

Cawood holds professional memberships with the College Sports Information Directors of America, Texas Sports Writers Association, Sigma Delta Chi and Alpha Kappa Psi.

He is married to the former Sheila Coldiron, also a native of Harlan.

JOHN McGLASSON

Equipment Manager



The "un-sung" member of the athletic staff is John McGlasson, the Bears' efficient equipment manager.

This is his third year as equipment manager, he served the athletic department as superintendent of buildings and grounds from 1950-66.

McGlasson is a graduate of Waco High School, he played football three years under the prep immor.al Paul Tyson. He later attended Baylor.

He and his wife Martha, who was a Baylor classmate, have six children, the oldest a Baylor graduate.
